Interim President Guenard expressed to the Board the importance of utilizing the services of the Financial Aid service company as the College continues to search for a new director. He explained that there are plans to reorganize some duties of the current role, and the salary has been increased to make the position more appealing to applicants. Mr. Guenard and Dean Graham expanded upon the depth of dedication and knowledge that Sue Forbes brought to the position and told the Board the College would be willing to train the right person, but the applicant should have a background in compliance and federal regulations.

Mr. Guenard also explained that using this firm would be temporary until the next director is hired.
